

MILLE BOJER

Mille Bøjer is a Co-Founder and Managing Director of Reos Partners, specializing in social transformation and systems change.

With over two decades of experience, she helps diverse stakeholders tackle global challenges like democracy, health, education, and sustainability through collaborative processes.

Mille co-founded Reos Partners' offices in Johannesburg, São Paulo, and Geneva and has guided organizations worldwide in achieving systemic change.

She is the lead author of Mapping Dialogue: Essential Tools for Social Change and holds degrees in Political Science from Cornell University and the University of Copenhagen.

Having lived in seven countries, Mille now resides in Geneva with her husband and two sons.

CONNECT WITH MILLE

Mille Bojer

bojer@reospartners.com

linkedin.com/mille-bojer

Reos Partners is a social impact company specializing in enabling transformative collaboration, even in situations of high complexity, uncertainty, and polarization. For 30 years, Reos has pioneered innovative approaches to effecting systemic transformation toward a more sustainable, equitable, and peaceful world.

reospartners.com